

Identifying Signs of Screen Addiction in Children

Image courtesy :
<https://www.istockphoto.com/>

Q SIGNS

It's important to note that experiencing some of these symptoms does not automatically indicate addiction, but they may be warning signs to monitor and assess the impact of screen time on well-being. If you suspect screen addiction in your self or your child, seeking professional guidance from a health care provider or therapist experienced in digital addiction can be helpful.

SYMPTOMS OF SCREEN ADDICTION IN CHILDREN

1. EXCESSIVE PREOCCUPATION: A strong and persistent preoccupation with screens, constantly thinking about or wanting to use electronic devices.
2. LOSS OF CONTROL: Difficulty in controlling or limiting screen time, unsuccessful attempts to cut down or stop usage.
3. WITHDRAWAL SYMPTOMS: Irritability, restlessness, or moodiness when not allowed to use screens or when attempts are made to reduce screen time.
4. NEGLECTING RESPONSIBILITIES: Neglecting or failing to fulfill academic, household, or social responsibilities due to excessive screen use.
5. ESCALATING USE: Needing increasing amounts of screen time to experience satisfaction or a sense of fulfillment.
6. INTERFERENCE WITH RELATIONSHIPS: Neglecting face-to-face interactions, reduced social engagement, or difficulty in establishing and maintaining real-life relationships due to excessive screen use.
7. PHYSICAL SYMPTOMS: Experiencing physical symptoms such as fatigue, headaches, dry eyes, or posture-related issues due to prolonged screen use.

Q SIGNS

SYMPTOMS OF SCREEN ADDICTION IN PARENTS:

- 1. NEGLECTING RESPONSIBILITIES: Neglecting household chores, personal responsibilities, or neglecting quality time with children or partners due to excessive screen use.
- 2. ESCAPING REALITY: Using screens as a means of escape or distraction from personal problems, stress, or emotional challenges.
- 3. LOSS OF CONTROL: Difficulty in self-regulating screen time, spending excessive amounts of time on electronic devices despite the intention to reduce or control usage.
- 4. NEGLECTED INTERACTIONS: Neglecting or being disengaged during important family moments or conversations due to being engrossed in screens.
- 5. IMPAIRED SLEEP: Disrupted or reduced sleep patterns due to late-night screen use or compulsive engagement with screens.
- 6. WITHDRAWAL SYMPTOMS: Feeling anxious, restless, or irritable when not able to access screens or when attempts are made to reduce screen time.